Society Silent in Face of Reality It Detests, Edward Keating Says

By MIKE WOOD
Montana Kaimin Reporter

"The American people—a society that once rebelled against things it didn't like—have now become silent in the face of realities the people know exist and detest," said Edward M. Keating.

Mr. Keating in a speech last night, in the University Theater said that this nation has, for a very long time, been living a big lie which permeates every aspect of our lives. He said that the biggest lie is the lie of Viet Nam because the present administration has tried to persuade the American people that the South Vietnamese people want this war.

"The South Vietnamese do not want to fight this war and feel that it has become an American war. If we let them alone they would solve their problems and make their own will known, the ex-publisher of Ramparts Magazine said.

"Another lie fed to the American people is the lie of communism," Mr. Keating said. "We are engaged in the wrong war with the wrong weapon against the wrong enemy. The real enemy of man is oppression, poverty, ignorance and disease. Reduce these and communism will die," Mr. Keating told the audience.

Mr. Keating said to win the war against communism we must change our foreign policy because—as it is now—most of our foreign aid money never reaches the poor people of the world, for whom it was intended, but falls into the hands of dictators.

Mr. Keating claimed national politics are a third lie to the American people. He said that he could find no difference between the Democratic and Republican parties and that voting for candidates from either party would always involve picking the lesser of two evils.

"Marijuana has been proven to be harmless, but is illegal, while alcohol and tobacco, deadly killers of men, are legal," Mr. Keating said.

Mr. Keating discussed his relations with hippies and said that the basic hippie philosophy is "do anything you want to as long as you don't hurt anyone else." He said that hippies structure their own lives but that the rest of the American people allow their lives to be structured by other people or institutions. He said the hippies of the American revolution were the men who threw the Boston Tea Party, because they weren't satisfied with life and acted for themselves. "These men have since become heroes and maybe in time these hippies will become heroes," Mr. Keating said. He also said the American people will never be able to understand hippies until we radically change our thoughts and values.

The American people themselves, not the Johnson administration, is to blame for the death of American soldiers in Vietnam, Mr. Keating said. He said that there is no easy solution for the problems of this society but that each must start with himself to find the cure. He said that the principle of competition in this society is killing it and it must be replaced with the principle of cooperation.

McCarthy Claims Committees Oppose LBJ

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy asserted yesterday that President Johnson has "lost the support of the two most important committees in Congress."

These, the Minnesota Democrat said, are the House "Ways and Means Committee which it needs to support its domestic fiscal and economic policies, and the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate which in the long run it must have in order to sustain its foreign policy."

Winding up a six-day presidential campaign swing through California, McCarthy concentrated in a talk before the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce in attacking the President's fiscal policies.

He accused the president of apparently making a political decision in waiting until after 1968 elections before asking for a needed tax increase.

"The administration insisted that everything was fine in 1966 long after nearly everyone knew better," McCarthy said. "Then it turned around in early 1967 and began to say that we needed brakes on the economy after the Federal Reserve had already stopped the economy cold."

McCarthy came out against a tax increase now because "it would not be made effective in time to dampen the inflationary pressures in the next six months, but it would have a depressing effect in the second half of the year when the economy, in any case, is likely to be sluggish."

Budget Committee Approves Leadership Camp Increase

Budget and Finance Committee last night tentatively approved 1968-69 budgets for the University band, the 1969 Leadership Camp and approved a $270 budget increase for the 1968 Leadership Camp.

Budget and Finance approved a $270 appropriation to cover the unexpected increase in expenses.

Kerns also requested $700 for the 1969 Leadership Camp, a $300 increase over the previous year's allocation. Kerns said the increase is necessary to avoid a recurrence of the problem incurred by the 1968 camp. The committee tentatively approved his request.

Garret staff member Sue Whitney said the Garret was unable to submit a 1968-69 budget request because printing expenses for the period are not yet known. Miss Whitney said the Garret staff is in the process of finding a new publisher, because a printer at the Missoulian refused to print the Garret. Miss Whitney refused to comment on the problem with the Missoulian printer.

In other committee action, Bob Anderson and Mike Morrison were appointed to investigate Program Council's use of funds.

NANCY HAIRE, freshman in pre-medicine, was selected UM Snow Queen yesterday in a run-off election against Linn Kundert, senior in speech pathology and audiology. ### Ten UM Coeds Join Sororities

Ten women pledged UM sororities during formal winter rush last week.

Coeds and sororities pledged are: Delta Delta Delta, Marsha Spicher and Franel Walker; Delta Gamma, Gail Aaberger and Jeanne Storez; Kappa Alpha Theta, Beth Amrine, Julie Follansbee, Cathy Stockner, Connie Thill and Guay Tippet; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Shelley Hoyt.

Open rush begins this week. Students may register with Margaret McGuire in Main Hall 104 before the end of the quarter.

Franks Appointed Corps Commander

Cadet Lt. Col. Robert G. Franks has been named corps commander of Army ROTC for winter and spring quarters by Lt. Col. Keith Angwin.

Franks, a senior majoring in history and political science was named the Outstanding Junior Class Cadet. He served as corps executive officer last quarter.

Dennis G. Minemyer was appointed corps executive officer and Gary M. Stevenson and Edwin L. Hall were chosen battalion commanders.

Ski Races, Queen's Coronation Planned for Winter Carnival

The Missoula Winter Carnival, which is being sponsored this year by ASUM, AWS and the Missoula Chamber of Commerce, will open Jan. 27 with the Hellgate Ski Cup Races at Snow Bowl.

UM Snow Weekend has been incorporated into the larger Missoula Carnival this year to insure a more successful celebration, according to Monte Magruder, Missoula Affairs commissioner.

The campus festivities will open with the crowning of the Snow Queen at an SOS Feb. 1. Snow sculptures created by campus living groups will be judged Feb. 3. Magruder said the Chamber of Commerce may give cash awards to the winners.

A new event for the Snow Weekend will be "dog sled races" between living groups on Feb. 4. Magruder said the races would feature male students pulling sleds or wagons driven by coeds.

Snowmobile races Feb. 17-18 will wrap up the Missoula festivities. The races will be held at a local racetrack and will be open to all snowmobile drivers. Divisions will be made according to engine size, Magruder said.

Stop War Before Negotiating, Vietcong Representative Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PARIS—North Vietnam's representative in Paris declared yesterday that the United States must stop its bombardment without expectation of any reciprocity from North Vietnam.

The representative, Mai Van Bo, at the same time repeated Hanoi's position that talks will start with the United States after the bombings and other warlike acts cease.

He said: "The United States attacked, without a valid reason and without a declaration of war, the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, an independent and sovereign country. It was an intentional aggression and a defiance of all men and all peoples.

In consequence the United States must end its acts of aggression without attaching any conditions whatsoever."

believed to have killed 300 persons and left nearly 1,500 missing Monday. New casualties were feared.

Widow Thanks Montanans

HELENA—The widow of Louis Washkansky, who received the world's first transplanted human heart, has written a note of thanks to the people of Montana.

The letter was addressed to Secretary of State Frank Murray, who had made Washkansky an honorary secretary of state prior to his death.

Johnson to Submit Budget

WASHINGTON—Pres. Johnson will submit to Congress a total spending program definitely below $190 billion for the fiscal year which begins July 1, informed sources said Tuesday.

Included in this would be administrative spending, the basis most commonly used in recent years, ranging about $11 billion or $12 billion above the current fiscal year, it was learned.

Relevance Is Key Word

A handful of students and faculty members took the first step this week in a project that may be the best thing that ever happened to this University.

They participated in the first three classes offered by ASUM Experimental College.

The turnout may have been small, but it was small when a similar program was begun at the San Jose State College. The first time such courses were offered there two years ago, only 50 students registered. About 350 are enrolled this year.

Similar successes have been enjoyed by New York University, University of Oregon and the University of California at Los Angeles.

The curious student has been freed from the shackles of the rigid, formalized curriculum to seek answers to some of the vital questions facing the world he soon will enter.

Possible topics for future courses are innumerable. A few of those discussed for UM include "Politics of National Liberation Fronts," "Pacifism," "The Position of Women in the American University," "The Mind of the American Negro," "Drug Education" and "The Implications of Black Power."

The key word is relevance, a relevance too long absent from too many courses in the standard University curriculum.

ASUM Pres. Loren Haarr, the Academic Affairs Commission and all other students who helped make these courses possible are to be commended for their work. The faculty members who have donated their time to teach these courses also deserve a vote of thanks, including Dexter Roberts, Paul Warwick, Denny Blouin and C. Barclay Kuhn.

These persons have done what Faculty Senate with its miles of academic red tape and intricate interdepartmental politics has been unable to do. They have put the student back in education and given him a greater opportunity to become involved.

This does not mean, however, that the Experimental College and those who made it possible should remain divorced from the University. The two can complement each other. University credit can be granted for Experimental College courses (This has been done at the University of Oregon.), and the best of the Experimental College can be assimilated into the regular University curriculum.

The success of this project depends ultimately on the students of this University. They have a chance to learn more about themselves and the world around them free from the grading and other pressures of conventional classes.

Another meeting on the Experimental College is scheduled tonight at 8 in the Activities Room of the Lodge. Don't let another worthy project die because of apathy. Ben Hansen

Miss Rankin Told the Truth

If Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield is a dove, he's a frustrated dove at best.

He called Sunday for an end to the bombing of North Vietnam and by doing so became the highest-ranked Administration figure to take this stand.

Monday something went awry. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., was blocked in his effort to have the Senate receive an anti-war petition from a group of women headed by former Congresswoman Jeannette Rankin of Montana.

Mansfield blocked the petition on a technicality. He objected that "under long-established customs, principles and practice" the Senate does not transact any business until after the President delivers the State of the Union Message scheduled for tonight.

Anti-war petitions habitually are laughed at and not taken seriously by many people because of their long-haired, bearded authors. Miss Rankin qualifies only on the former. When a woman of her stature, a woman who at 87 has the courage to lead a peace march in Washington, appears before Congress with a list of names of those who also wish to see hostilities in Vietnam halted, it seems that the least our revered leaders could do is give it consideration. Even if it is to "shoot it down."

Mansfield has spoken out consistently against the war and urged a negotiated settlement. But he has to keep the ball rolling.

Tonight, President Johnson, in his state of the Union Message, will tell the American people everything but what the state of the union really is. We'll hear the same generalities we've been hearing all year about how the American people should persevere and back his stand in Vietnam.

Miss Rankin told the truth Monday. Only Sen. Morse was willing to listen. Rod Ottenbreit

Haarr Contends Turnout Too Low

By LOREN HAARR
ASUM President

Tonight, once again, the Experimental College is meeting in the Activities Room of the Lodge. From the meeting last week, three classes were started: One dealing with the practices of Oriental Philosophy; another with Student Radical Organizations and the third with Deeper Personal Relations.

Attendance at this first meeting seemed to indicate that 99.87 per cent of the student body is totally satisfied with the curriculum; which either calls for congratulations to the University or a long, sad laugh at the student body. Or maybe one should simply be realistic about the University of Montana.

Experimental colleges are working in dozens of other liberal arts colleges across the country and are exerting a real influence on the established systems. They are perhaps misnamed, for the word "college" still calls up images of assignments, grades, and schedules. When in fact, the "classes" are nothing more than semi-bull sessions where people can explore together for the sake of exploration.

I shudder to think that the liberal arts at the University of Montana are dead to the point that no one is interested in making the world a better place. And how can we accept the status quo without ever exploring the possibilities of making it better? Acquiescence is acceptance, and the world marches dumbly towards World War III.

Sophomore Guard Paces Tips With 14 Points Against Idaho

Likely to replace the injured Ron Moore in the Grizzly starting lineup is sophomore John Cheek, who has been the Tips' top reserve guard and started on several occasions.

Cheek came off the bench Monday against Idaho and scored 14 points, his best effort of the season. Although he has made a sub-par 31 per cent of his field goals this season, Cheek connected on seven out of 15 field goals against Idaho.

As a freshman, Cheek averaged 8 points a game, sinking 47 per cent of his field goals and 81 per cent of his free throws. His best effort of the season was a 26-point output against the MSU Bobkittens, including 18 out of 20 free throws.

Cheek played for his father, a member of the Grizzly basketball Hall of Fame, for three years at Anaconda High School. He was named to the all-conference first team as a senior when he led the Copperheads to fourth place in the Big 32 Tournament. In summers, he practiced shooting with the late Wayne Estes, an All-America at Utah State, who was also from Anaconda.

Grizzly Forward Injured in Game

Grizzly basketball star Ron Moore will be sidelined for at least two weeks with a knee injury, according to team physician Dr. Robert Curry.

Dr. Curry said Moore suffered a temporary dislocation in the Montana-Idaho game on Monday. "The knee actually gives way and later returns to normal," Dr. Curry said. He added that the injury involves ligament and soft tissue damage.

U.S. Luge Team Begins Training For Olympics

The United States Olympic luge team, which includes three UM students, currently is training and racing in Koenigssee, Germany, according to a letter from Capt. Bruce Medley, team coach and assistant professor of air science at the University.

Capt. Medley, in a letter received by the UM Information Services Offices, announced the team's plans for the next three weeks.

On Jan. 10 the team traveled from Montreal, where the final selections were held, to New York City where the members were fitted for uniforms.

The team flew to Germany on the evening of the 10th and will remain there until Jan. 20. On Jan. 22, the luge team will travel to the site of the 1964 Winter Olympics—Innsbruck, Austria, for additional competition.

On Feb. 1, members of the team will report to Grenoble, France, where the 1968 Winter Olympics is slated to begin.

The three UM students who are on the 11-member squad are Ellen Williams of Westwood, N.J., Sheila Johannson of Billings, and Jim Murray of Avon. Kathy Roberts, a Miles City high school girl, is also a member of the team.

Union Address To Get Review By Governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight Republican governors, including George Romney of Michigan, plan to respond jointly to President Johnson's state of the Union message.

The Republican Governors Association said in a statement that the governors will hold a telephonic news conference here Thursday morning after the delivery of Johnson's message at a joint session of Congress tonight. Republican congressional leaders already have announced they will hold a news conference a half hour after Johnson speaks to supply their reaction to his proposals.

Dave is a freshman at the University of Montana and is one of the more than 300,000 graduates of the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. He is neither a genius nor a naturally fast reader. He learned to read rapidly by taking the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics course.

Dave says, "Reading Dynamics is the most valuable course that any student can take. Not only do you improve your reading ability, but even more important, you learn to study more effectively and efficiently."

You may not learn to read as fast as Dave Armstrong (but then again you might), but the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute guarantees that you will triple your present efficiency with good comprehension or it will refund your full tuition.
